School Board Eyes Future Expansion

Canyon school board members turned their eyes to the future Tuesday night and saw rapidly increasing enrollments and soon-needed expansion of facilities.

Noting that enrollment in Canyon schools increased by nearly 200 this year compared to 1969, the board predicted that enrollments will not level off but will continue climbing.

Superintendent Jerry Jacobs said in the past it appeared school enrollments here had reached a level state. But, he said, a trend of growth has been set.

Jacobs and several other board members noted that many mobile homes and new houses are under construction or are planned for the school district area.

"West Texas State (university) is supposedly going to get a bigger influx of enrollment," Jacobs said.

This, too, could increase public school enrollment.

To cope with mounting enrollment, Jacobs told the board architects are currently working out a master plan for expansion of high school facilities.

He said particular areas which need most immediate expansion include dressing rooms, cafeteria, library, vocational building, the science department and art department.

He said the school needs between five and seven additional classrooms.

Jacobs told the board that according to state standards, the high school vocational building is about half the size it should be to meet students' needs.

Included in the architects' plans will be expansion of parking facilities.

He said the art department might be moved to a separate building, with other classes expanding into the current art facilities.

He noted a shortage in the science laboratories.

Jacobs predicted that in the next few years the high school's enrollment will jump from its present 640 students to between 850 and 900.

"It may be four years or it may be eight years, but the way things are heading that's what we're going to be looking at," he said.

In other business, Dr. Dudley Moore, board president, asked Jacobs if the school can justify the hosting of four and possibly five dances in Canyon during the summer months.

Dr. Moore said students need recreation during the summer.

Jacobs said he felt it isn't a school function to provide dances during the summer months.

Jacobs reported to the board that the new junior high school building will be occupied in part by the opening of school in the fall. He said the old junior high building will be abandoned by mid-June.

Jacobs also reported that again this summer the school will sponsor a student employment service. He said last summer's employment program proved to be successful.

Jacobs said he has made application to the state for approval of adding a feedlot management course to the high schoool curriculum as an elective. He said he is awaiting final word on the request.

Police Seek Attacker Of 5-Year-Old Girl

A five-year-old South Amarillo girl told police this week she was criminally assaulted early Sunday by a man who was thin and had short hair.

Amarillo police and Randall County deputies conducted a house-to-house investigation in an effort to uncover any clue to the identity of the man this week.

At mid-week, their efforts were fruitless.

The girl was believed to have been taken during her sleep from her bed, according to Dist. Atty. George Dowlen.

Dowlen said the assault occurred about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Preliminary reports indicated she had been raped.

In telling of the assault, Dowlen quoted the mother of the child as saying her husband was out of town.

"Her sister from Lubbock was going to drive here and spend the night with her," Dowlen said. "But, about 1:30 a.m., she got tired of waiting and decided to go to bed.

"So, she left the front door unlocked and closed and went to bed after checking all the kids. About 2:25 a.m., the sister came in and she found the front door open and the screen storm door ajar.

"She realized something was wrong and woke up her sister and they discovered the five-year-old was gone."

Dowlen said the two women phoned Amarillo police.

Meanwhile, about three blocks south of the girl's home, Dowlen said, a woman reported about the same time hearing the sounds of a crying child in her neighbor's back yard.

She told officers she saw a man come out of the alley by her house and walk off.

About 2:30 a.m., the young girl was found about 1½ blocks from her home by a passing motorist. She was hiding behind a street light pole.

Dowlen quoted the young girl as saying she did not know her assailant.

She was treated and released at an Amarillo hospital and was still undergoing a physician's care this week.

Buffalo Lake Water Down To Low Level

Buffalo Lake, plagued by pollution problems is facing another crisis now which deals directly in the lake's future.

Paul Ferguson, manager of the lake and wildlife refuge, told Canyon Rotarians Tuesday the lake is getting dangerously low on water.

He said the water level was lower, though in 1959 and 1960.

The outlook is bleak, he said, because the lake is receiving almost no run-off from Tierra Blanca Creek. It is bleak, too, because of little rain this spring.

Ferguson said the lake must depend almost solely on rain to replenish its supply.

"The future of the lake as a sport fishery is questionable," he said. I don't know where we can get increased water."

Ferguson outlined the three alternatives recommended several months ago by a group of federal and state officials studying the Buffalo Lake pollution problem.

The alternatives were: do nothing; eradicate all rough fish; completely draw down the lake.

He said higher officials have decided nothing will be done about the lake for the present. The officials felt, he said, that a 100 percent fish kill is not possible.

He said they wanted more time, too, to develop the best possible plan for the lake.

The future of the lake,

Sound And Light Show Given TPH Board Boost

A sound and light show which will supplement the summer run of the musical drama "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon was given a boost toward realization when the directors of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., met Monday.

The show is proposed to run in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in the canyons after "TEXAS" ends its seasonal showings.

Mrs. Ples Harper, public relations manager for the show, said the executive committee of the foundation was authorized Monday to seek ways to finance filmings for the sound and light show.

The heritage foundation is sponsoring group of "TEXAS".

Mrs. Harper said President Eddie Melin told the members he had made a request to the Fine Arts Commission for matching funds to finance the sound and light show.

Mrs. Harper is currently working with playwright Paul Greene in writing the sound and light show.

No dates for formal production of the show have been set.

During the Monday meeting, the board set the schedule for opening night of the "TEXAS" production. The show opens in late June.

MVC Officials Pleased With University Records

Missouri Valley Conference officials were "most pleased with their findings," during a fact-finding visit to West Texas State University Monday and Tuesday.

"We found everything in fine order," said Dr. Leland Johnson, faculty representative from Drake, who headed the group. "All of the records are in excellent shape and the institution is meeting all of the eligibility and other requirements commensurate with a quality program in athletics."

Dr. Johnson, who issued a statement before leaving the campus Tuesday, said, "We will not be making a decision for a minimum of a month because some faculty representatives are off-campus or out of the country. It takes time to get a report prepared for submission to the commissioner's office.

"The faculty representatives will be happy to receive a report such as we have on West Texas State. We have been most pleased at the cordiality received here and with the findings."

Dr. Johnson said the faculty representatives will fly into a central location, yet unnamed, for the vote. He stated the vote will come no later than July 16, and it is hoped it could be taken as early as June 20.

With Dr. Johnson on the WTSU campus was conference commissioner DeWitt Weaver. Dr. Orville Northdurft, faculty representative of Bradley, and Tulsa director of athletics Glenn Dobbs were to have accompanied the group, but were unable to make the trip.

Earlier this month in Des Moines, Iowa, conference officials were optimistic concerning the request by WTSU for entrance into the MVC.

At that meeting, Head Buff Coach Joe Kerbel and Dr. James P. Cornette, university president, had talked again about WTSU

Freedom Group Proposes Actions

An ad hoc committee on academic freedom presented its report and five recommendations to the Faculty Council at West Texas State University Tuesday.

The recommendations concerned student-faculty-administration communication, student transcripts, the campus security department and the office of student financial aids.

Dr. Franklin Daugherty of the Faculty Council, said the report was accepted by the council and distributed to all university faculty members.

He said the council will probably not act on any of the recommendations until next fall.

The ad hoc committee, made up of five members, was appointed in the latter part of the fall semster this year to study the academic freedom of professors and students on campus.

"The work of the committee has led it to believe that conditions on our campus, are, on the whole, better than those found on most campuses of comparable size and complexity in our

Mark Olson Is Prexy

Mark Olson became the first student in the history of Texas A&M to be elected to a second term as president of civilian students and the civilian student Council.

Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Olson of Canyon, was named in student elections this month and is responsible to more than 12,000 students.

He defeated his nearest opponent by more than 2,500 votes in a record turn out of voters.

Donna Whit, A&M secretary for student programs, said the CSC awards banquet was unusual this year because for the first time the gavel was not passed on to another student but remained with Olson.

Also this year Olson has served on eight university committees, four advisory

Interior Department Hears Helium Request

West Texas State University Vice President Dr. Emmitt Smith met with Department of Interior officials this week to propose once more the transfer of helium research facilities from Amarillo to the Canyon campus.

Dr. Smith reportedly met with Hollis Dole, assistant interior secretary and proposed a transfer at a cost of about $915,000, about $600,000 less than original estimates.

The proposal was for funding for three years to affect the helium research transfer from Amarillo to WTSU's Killgore Research Center.

The research center in Amarillo is to be closed June 30.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

The public which foots the bills for our universities is entitled to a clear cut definition of academic freedom.

It should be defined by statute so there will be no misunderstanding. I certainly think that a professor should have great latitude in presenting his subject matter and in the quest for truth in relation to it.

I do not think this freedom extends him a license to engage in sedition. A professor who steps out of his class room and engages in assaults on the "establishment," which is another term for this country's legal government, and then flees to the sanctuary of his lectern is as repugnant as those who would destroy the constitution and then hide behind the Fifth Amendment when called into account.

I would be the last to deny anyone the right of free speech. My very existence is wrapped up in that freedom. But a wide chasm separates free speech and inciting to riot.

In almost every instance of campus violence in this country faculty members have been directly involved. I say these people have forfeited their right to teach.

I doubt that their departure from the campus would cause much concern among the thousands of professors dedicated to the spread of knowledge rather than the spread of revolution.

President Nixon indeed gave us a profile in courage when he decided to attack the communist sanctuaries in Cambodia.

Our forces have seized or destroyed thousands of tons of war material used by the North Vietnamese to wage war in the south. Command posts and communications equipment have been captured or destroyed.

"It should have been done a long time ago," declared a veteran back only this week from combat duty in Viet Nam.

Nixon laid his political future on the line when he decided to move. In spite of vociferous dissent, the past two weeks already have proved that the President was right.

The dissenters are noisy but they represent a negligible fraction of the people of this country.

I am a little tired of hearing the tragedy at Kent State referred to as massacre or murder. What unfolded there undoubtedly was a tragedy but not only because four students lost their lives.

The greatest tragedy was that people who were supposed to represent the most enlightened portion of the community, Kent State University, ran beserk on a spree of looting and burning. . . a sub-human mob on the loose.

This tragedy caused the governor of Ohio to call out the national guard after regular police had been unable to cope with the situation.

The mob had already exhibited its contempt for the law. Those who joined it either as spectators or as active participants did so at their own personal risk.

The record reflects that the mob hurled bricks and stones at the national guardsmen confronting it.

What were the guardsmen to do? Beg them to quit?

No! The disgrace lies not with the civilian soldiers doing a nasty job for society but with the mob itself and the people who fomented it.

A group of women are dissenting--asking equal rights.

I don't know about other states, but the women of Texas had better leave things alone. Their rights are equaler than men's right now.

If you don't believe it, read on.

In 47th District Court this week was a case that proves my point.

A lad bound for overseas service fell in love with a young lady, according to testimony in court. They went together for two months before he departed. While he was overseas he wrote to her.

He returned and six days later they were married.

Two months hence he learned that they had personality conflicts. He asked for a separation. She flew into a tizzy and called her psychiatrist. The doctor put her in the hospital to the tune of $1,100. Mind you, the couple was separated all the time the bills were running up.

"He took me for better or worse, so I think he should pay all the bills," the young lady told the judge. The judge agreed. The man must pay although testimony showed he earns only $360 a month.

Gariepy Is Given Six Years

Joe Gariepy, 24 years old, was assessed six years in prison Monday in 47th District Court here for the February 25 burglary of his mother's home in Amarillo.

On the witness stand Gariepy admitted to three previous felony convictions.

He was charged in connection with the burglary of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Raymond Given, 4622 Lipscomb. Mrs. Givens is the defendant's mother, according to testimony in the case.

Two neighbors told of having seen Gariepy come out the front door of the Givens home carrying a box on the afternoon of the alleged burglary. One neighbor said she saw the man pry open a window to gain entry.

Several pistols were alleged to have been taken from the home. Givens identified a Frontier Colt introduced in evidence as one of the weapons taken.

Gariepy lived in the Givens home when he was about 10 years old. Givens testified that about four years ago he was told not to contact his mother again.

Defense Attorney Rhett Plank asked for leniency.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Troy;

First, let me express my appreciation to The Canyon News for the fine coverage of the Republican County Convention. It has always been a pleasure to work with you.

There was one misunderstood resolution which I feel needs clarifying, as I did for the delegates at the convention.

The resolution as reported read: "...this convention consider any Republican officer holder who publicly supports the nominee of another party as having resigned his office."

The actual resolution as voted at the conventions referred to: "...any elected Republican party official..." This means precinct chairmen and county party chairman only. Strange that the omission of one word could so alter a meaning.

The reason this is so very important is this: an elected party official's allegiance should be to the party whereas, the elected office holder is to the electorate, be the Republican, Democrat, or independent. And the very principle of the two party system is based on bringing the best possible elected officials to our county and country knowing that quality officials can and must work together for the best interest of all. Let's be sensible...sometime within the next year Jim Fletcher, Democrat, and Bill Butler, Republican, will second each other's motions and surely this is public support.

It was the intent of the resolution to encourage party officers who in all conscience felt they must publicly support the nominee of another party to resign and let their position be filled by those who could support the party's nominees. This problem is not new to Texas politics and will reoccur as long as we have the freedom of choice. And long may that freedom be ours! For the loyalty to candidates is what builds a party or lack of it condemns.

I do hope this will help clarify.

Loyally,

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

The letter to the local editors from the Campus Veterans organization at West Texas State University was like a breath of fresh air compared to the stench that has been emanating from so many colleges and universities. The young men who have served their country on the battlefields of the world are surely in position to know whereof they speak.

No American in his right mind wants our country involved in war anywhere. But almost without exception, our returned veterans are unanimous in the opinion that ours is not a choice of whether to fight communism but where to fight it. And the most serious threat seems to be in our schools.

We could, of course, betray our blood-bought heritage, and permit this scourge to enslave or slaughter us, as it has already done to more than half the people of the world, if that is what we ant. But does the dirty, hairy, radical minority speak for the majority of clean, hard-working, conservative Americans?

Returning veterans consistently report that the U. S. could win this war in Southeast Asia, with conventional weapons, in a month if permitted to do so. In addition to being forbidden to take the offensive in this unique war, the poor GIs are not even permitted to defend themselves. There is no precedent for such policies in Amerian history.

Both males and females in Vietnam are slight of stature, and wear black pajamas and big hat. GIs cannot always distinguish between them at first glance; they may not live to get a second look.

Women and children plant bombs and throw hand grenades as well as men. If the GIs do not shoot first they may get killed; if they do they will likely be court martialed. What are men expected to do when faced with such a dilemma? When a man cannot identify his enemy, how can he fight?

When the eight nurses were slain in Chicago, the nation was outraged at the atrocity. More than eight women are criminally assaulted or murdered in America every day. But as long as they are picked off one at a time, the crimes attract only local attention.

If the more than 40,000 men who have been slain in Vietnam had died in one day, the whole force of American arms would have been enlisted, and the war would have been won long ago.

The boys who have died a few at a time are just as dead, and the loss to their loved ones just as great as if they had all died together. The suffering of the injured is just as traumatic as if they had all been wounded on D-day.

It is preferable to continue sacrificing American boys, who are in Asia against their wills, at the rate of a hundred or two every week, or kill a few thousand communists all at one time and end the conflict? (after all--they started this war.) Life under communism is reportedly so wretched, it probably makes little difference to them if their country is at war.

Whether or not one approves of the war or of the way it is being conducted, what is rioting, looting, and burning down America going to help? The Camvets have made a constructive suggestion.

If we want our Commander-in-Chief to win this war and bring our boys home, we should tell him so. Anyone approving the present defensive, no-win, interminable sacrifice of American lives should express his approval to the President.

And those who want us to back down and take our place as a second-rate power until the communists get ready to annihilate us, should speak up, and be prepared to take the consequences.

Right or wrong, as long as we survive as a democracy, the majority should rule. But the wishes of the majority should be determined in an orderly manner at the polls, and not by mobs in the streets. If we would save our nation from communism we must defend ourselves wherever we are attacked.

Witt Trial Postponed By Judge

Trial of Ricky Witt, 19 years old, Amarillo on a marijuana charge has been postponed by 47th District Court Judge Gene Jordan.

Chief witness in the case, Mrs. Carolyn Cox, is in a Big Spring hospital. Mrs. Cox worked as an undercover agent for the sheriff's department here and the Amarillo Police Department.

Witt specifically is charged with sale of marijuana. He remains in Randall County jail here in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Cox was chief witness in the Richard Dean Bridges trials. Bridges drew a total of 20 years in prison on convictions in Randall and Potter Counties.

Appeal Court To Hear McAlpine Conviction

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals was to consider Wednesday an appeal from Rip Hall McAlpine, convicted last May here of possession of marijuana.

McAlpine was sentenced to six years adult probation by 47th District Court Judge Gene Jordan.

Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said the Wednesday appeal was the first appeal of a probated sentence from Randall County.

Dowlen, who sent his assistant Mike Hinton to Austin to argue the state's side, said the appeal revolves around whether or not a search warrant issued to gain entrance to McAlpine's elegant south Amarillo apartment was valid.

The district attorney said the search warrant was based on information received from informants who had told an Amarillo narcotics agent of drug usage there.

Dowlen said none of the informants were revealed at McAlpine's trial and McAlpine contends he was entitled to have the names of the informants so he might question them and determine whether they had any particular bias or prejudice against him.

During the trial last year in Randall County Courthouse, McAlpine's attorney Charles Fairweather moved to quash the search warrant and to have the evidence gained through its use thrown out of court.

He argued that the warrant was obtained on heresay information. Judge Jordan overruled the motion.

Dowlen said a decision can be expected from the Court of Criminal Appeals within three to five weeks.

then, depends on rain.

He said heavy rains would solve the low water problem and would help alleviate the pollution problem.

In 1969, the lake has a surface of 650 acres. It has dropped to less than 400 now.

In outlining the pollution problems of the lake, Ferguson said the main source of pollution has been the cattle feedlots in and near Hereford.

He said the feedlots were to have built dikes to stop the run-off of pollutants downstream from their yards. But, he said, the dikes will not hold heavy rains and the pollutants find their way to Buffalo Lake anyway.

Canyon Study Club officers were installed this week in ceremonies in the home of Mrs. Fred Begert. New officers are from left in the front row, Mrs. Linda Blewett, program chairman; Mrs. Weymon Brown, president; and Mrs. David Patterson, president. In the back row are Mrs. John O'Conner, secretary; Mrs. Walter Cranmer, reporter-historian; Mrs. Durwood Henderson, ways and means chairman; Mrs. David Hunt, treasurer; and Mrs. Bob Phillips, vice president.

country," states the report.

The committee said it found that no faculty member feels his freedom to teach has been or is being infringed upon.

It noted that only a small number of students and faculty members appeared before the committee.

"Among faculty members, the persistent complaint seemed to be the difficulty in securing building space for the holding of certain extra-curricular meetings," the report stated. "They felt that the difficulty was somewhat proportional to the popularity or unpopularity of the cause to be presented."

The committee met with various students and faculty members in hearings behind closed doors.

The report states that among students there are three problem areas--the office of student life, the office of campus security and the office of student financial aids.

The committee made the following resolutions:

--That the Faculty Council establish a standing committee of students, faculty council members, and if necessary, administrators to hear all charges of bias, prejudice or other unfair treatment of students, faculty, staff or administration.

--That the council form similar committees to make recommendations on university standards, which deal with student welfare and discipline, curriculum, building use and other areas which the Council feels affect the faculty and students. "Since these groups are so directly affected by these standards, the committee believes that they should have a major voice in their formulation."

--That a student's transcript contain no information other than academic.

--That there have been a few instances when faculty members were intimidated by the security department personnel. That the security office should restrict its activity to enforcement of rules and regulations. That any formulation of interpretation of rules should not "be the bailiwick of the Office of Campus Security." That the powers and functions of the security office should be clearly defined.

--That the office of student financial aids should clearly distinguish between the Opportunity Plan and government-financed plans and these distinguishing characteristics should be published in one document. The document should include criteria for selection of recipients, what is necessary to maintain a loan.

obtain the research facilities and staff.

At first, the interior department said it had no funds available for the transfer. Delegates from the area went to Washington to try to work out a plan.

So far, no funding has been made for the transfer.

TOPS Meets

The TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Club will meet Thursday night with weigh-in at 7:30 p.m. and a business meeting later at West Texas State Bank.

Guest speaker on the program will be April Lawrence.

Harry Akamine, a senior student at West Texas State University, was enlisted for six years Thursday night in the U. S. Navy. He will graduate this month from WTSU.

Show. . .

Morris Lowenstern will be on display at the amphitheatre opening night.

Special guests will be on hand at the opening to recognize the Moody Foundation, which donated $50,000 last year toward the financial reserves of the production.

Delegates from the foundation to receive the honor will include Mrs. Mary Moody Northen, daughter of Will Moody, who established the foundation.

Mrs. Harper reported to the directors the extent of publicity the show has received this year. She said articles have appeared in Better Homes and Gardens, Continental Trailways Magazine, Changing Times, Women's Day and Texas Outlook.

Raymond Raillard of the production reported that this year's souvenier program will be one of the best.

He said Ben Carlton Mead has been asked to furnish drawing for the program.

He will have 25 sketches in the program depicting the West from Indian Buffalo Hunts to the death of Frenchie McCormick in the 1900's.

Raillard also reported that 14 groups, including 2400 persons, have already made reservations to see the production.

Other business for the directors was election of officers for the next two-year period. Russell Carver was named first vice president, Wales Madden Jr. was named director-at-large, A.W. Lair was named third vice president and Jerry LaGrone was named treasurer.

News Brief

Thieves have taken about $200 worth of mercury from the El Paso Natural Gas Company booster station near Umbarger.

The theft was discovered Tuesday night. Sheriff's officers are investigating.

Some County Residents To Have Higher Taxes

About 100 Randall County residents will be faced with higher taxes next year due to an increase in their property's valuations.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, told county commissioners Monday she has re-evaluated many items of real property in the county and their taxable valuations must be increased.

She said she will send letters to those taxpayers affected to notify them of the increase.

In many cases, she said, the increases were neccessary due to improvements made to the property.

The commissioners approved the increases.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton told commissioners he feels Randall County's population figures may not be accurate.

County Judge Carroll Brown said the county had a population of 52,891 this year compared to 33,913 in 1960.

Hutton based his opinion on the number of registered voters in 1960 compared to 1970.

He noted that in 1960, the county had a population of 33,000 and 10,000 registered voters. In 1970, he said, the county's population stood at 52,000 with 23,000 registered voters.

In other business, the court authorized Mrs. Bruse to dispose of old records in accordance with state law.

The commission had but a six item agenda Monday, but spent more than an hour of a more than three-hour session discussing bids for radio equipment for the sheriff's office.

The two bids considered were from Motorola and General Electric.

General Electric was low bidder with $5,981.36. Motorola bid $6,076.

The contract, however, was awarded to Motorola.

Glenn Dowlen ended the hour's discussion when he moved the contract be awarded.

Previously the commission had talked of splitting the bids and awarding contracts on each item.

Both firms bid an extended radio console unit. Motorola said their unit was engineered and designed at their factory. The General Electric unit would have to be constructed in the field.

For this reason, Dowlen moved the contract be given Motorola.

Included in the price is a base station with monitor receiver, three monitor receivers in vehicles, a mobile unit in a vehicle and the relocation of the present base station.

Other bids were received from six companies for five tractors and a mower. Contracts will be awarded next Monday.

City Commission To Eye Junk Car Ordinance

Canyon City Commissioners tonight will consider passing an ordinance which would prohibit the parking of junked cars within the city.

The proposed ordinance prohibits the parking or storage on private or public property of cars, car bodies, parts, equipment tools or machinery.

The proposal doesn't apply to cars or their parts stored in buildings or in backyards enclosed by fences at least five feet in heighth.

Also to be considered tonight is an ordinance prohibiting the parking of trucks weighing more than 1 ton in residential areas in the city.

The commission meets at 7 p.m. in the city hall annex.

Other items on the agenda include:

Bids on two police vehicles, a new rodding machine and a mower.

Bids on a truck for the sanitation department and remodeling of the American Legion Hall.

Closing of city offices in observance of Memorial Day.

joining the conference.

A vote was not taken on membership, however, pending the Monday and Tuesday visit to the campus.

The conference did, though, vote to expand--by as many as four teams.

Officials said at the Des Moines meeting that WTSU was the only university under consideration for membership in the conference at this time.

While here Monday and Tuesday, Dr. Johnson and Weaver looked over academic transcripts of athletes, scholarship records and recruitment records.

High School Service Sun.

Baccalaureate services for Canyon High School graduating seniors will be held Sunday at 8 o'clock in the Canyon High School auditorium with Rev. Bill Foil, pastor of the First Baptist Church, serving as speaker.

Special music will be provided by the mixed choir of Canyon High School and admission will be by ticket only.

Senior commencement will be next Friday at 8 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

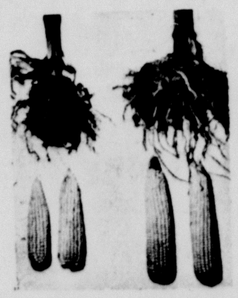
SEED X CITERS OF TEXAS
ENERGIZED SEEDS...

Another step forward in Agricultural development . . . from earlier emergence to bountiful harvest, energized Seeds make a difference!

Results from over 100 on-farm plantings of energized seed have amazed most farmers who have tried SeedXciter. Earlier emergence, faster growth, healthier-looking crops, increased yields are factors which appear in enthusiastic reports of growers who have planted energized seeds.



More vigorous roots . . . larger ears

Differences are very pronounced in this comparison. Energized plants show much more vigorous growth and better root structure. Stalks are heavier. Ears are larger.

To date, all seeds have responded favorably to SeedXciter's energizing treatment. Benefits have been reported from treated seeds of major farm crops including corn, wheat, oats, sorghum and soybeans. Positive results have been obtained when planting is done within 14 days of processing.

Healthier roots, sturdier stalks

The heavier root structure and larger plants on the left were from energized seed, and show more branches and more pods than the control plants on the right.

LABORATORY ANALYSIS*

10 Corn Samples:
6 showed increased Protein.
4 showed increased Carbohydrates.
All showed plus nutritional values.

5 Soybean Samples:
1 showed increased Protein.
4 showed increased Carbohydrates.
All showed plus nutritional values.

*Preliminary evaluation of 1969 harvests by Recognized Independent Laboratory.

Better standing crop . . . yield improved over 15%

Again, the more vigorous root structure is clearly apparent. Stooling is heavier. During growing season, energized plants withstood high winds much better.

Cross Country On Crutch

BY TROY MARTIN

David Ryder didn't feel that his native England is wide enough so he is walking on crutches across the United States to prove something and to do something.

David, who is 22 years old, was crippled by polio when he was 2.

Five years ago he started to horseback riding school as a therapy for his condition and there met John Davis, the headmaster.

David said the therapeutic results for himself were so beneficial that he wants to acquaint the world with his experience. He hails Davis as the world's leading authority on therapeutic riding for the handicapped.

Ryder says that riding is beneficial to more than 20 different types of handicaps.

Two years ago he decided to make the walk to bring attention to his convictions so he went into training.

Davis is his manager and Mrs. Davis cooks for the four-member team. They borrowed money from an English bank to underwrite the venture and came to America.

David occasionally speaks before civic groups. He spoke this week before the Rotary Club in Hereford.

By Tuesday night he had made it to Canyon--a 30-mile jaunt from Hereford in one day. Tuesday evening he returned to Hereford where he and his party had been invited to dinner.

He said he expects to spend a couple of days in Hereford and then return to Canyon some time this week end to take up where he left off and continue to New York.

David says he hopes to raise money for his cause through contributions from interested people. He said he and the Davises want to see riding academies devoted to therapy for the handicapped in every state in the U.S. and possibly in every large city.

The Davis couple and the driver, Michael McGary, precede Ryder with a camper. The party sleeps and eats in the camper with Mrs. Davis doing the cooking.

David says he has had some interesting experiences on the walk which began in March and will require about six months. The young man has a brace on the left leg and walks by using two hand curtches.

"Now and then I run into some inquisitive bobbies (policemen)," he relates in a British accent. "I don't mind. They're just doing their job and I appreciate it.

"When I see a lorry (truck) coming I take a deep breath and bow my head so I don't get the full blast in the face."

David is sun-browned to swarthiness. He carries a canteen slung from his neck and drinks from it frequently under the Texas Panhandle sun.

Back in Britain, David's 65-year-old dad, veteran of World War II, works as a machinist. David is a jeweler by trade.

"I'm proud of England and my heritage," the youngster declared. "I want to show that I can do something worthwhile."

Londoner David Ryder is shown here on Highway 60. He is walking across the U.S. on crutches to call attention to riding therapy for the handicapped.

WTSU Student Makes It To National Track Meet By Leaps and Bounds

Jo Meaker, 20-year-old West Texas State University sophomore, competed in running and jumping events during her high school track days at Panhandle, but she combined those talents into one event this spring and it paid big dividends.

Mrs. Mary Hill, coach of the West Texas State women's track team, decided Miss Meaker's best event would be in the hurdles.

In her fifth meet this spring the Texas Division of Girl's and Women's Sports in Lubbock, Jo stepped over the 200-meter hurdles in 32.0 to place second and qualify for the DGWS National Intercollegiate Track & Field Championships in Champaign, Ill., May 29-30.

Outstanding performers at the national meet will be selected for the World University Games at Turin, Italy, this summer. The selections will be made by the U.S. Collegiate Sports Council, which is also trying to raise funds so those going to the world games can also compete in meets in Athens, Greece, and Paris, France.

For Jo, her track experience started in the ninth grade at Panhandle High School. Miss Ann Metcalf, coach of the girls' basketball and volleyball teams, took over the track coaching duties to form a girl's team.

"Miss Metcalf knew little of track when we first started, so all of us learned by reading books and by doing," recalls Jo. "It paid off, as we won the Class B division of the state girls' meet my sophomore year and won the state Class A championship my junior year."

Jo's events in high school were the long jump, triple jump, and the mile, sprint and 880-yard relays.

Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Meaker, Jr., live on a farm 10 miles from Panhandle. She did a little cross country running on that farm.

Besides running and jumping on the track squad, Jo played both basketball and volleyball at Panhandle High School.

A physical education major, Jo is a student leader at WTSU. She is a member of the Student Senate and represented the WTSU physical education department at the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation convention earlier this year in Seattle.

Her expenses to the national meet are being paid by the University Student Senate.

Besides placing second at the Texas DGWS in the 200-meter hurdles, Jo was third in the 100-meter hurdles, placed in the long jump and ran the 440-yard leg of the 880-yard medley relay. She entered the district DGWS meet and qualified for the state meet in all of them.

Two Area Track Stars Sign With University

Two Panhandle area track stars have signed athletic scholarship agreements with West Texas State University. They are Percy Mays of Hereford and Lockney's Tracy Dickson.

University track coach Bob Kitchens made the announcement Monday and said "Both Percy and Tracy have the potential to become outstanding performers."

Dickson, whose best time in the 100 and 220-yard dashes this year were 9.8 and 22.0 respectively, placed fourth in the Class AA regional 100-yard dash. Kitchens expects him to aid the Buffaloes, both in the sprints and in the 440-yard relay next spring.

Mays won the District 1-AAA 880-yard run in 2:00.5 and ran 2:00.4 at regional to place third.

Both Dickson and Mays were standouts in other sports. Dickson was an all-district selection in football as a split end. Mays lettered three years in basketball.

Mays is 6-1½, while Dickson is 6-0 and 165.

Both athletes maintained B averages in high school. Mays plans to major in speech and Dickson will major in either agriculture or physical education.

Motion Denied For Brooks

Judge E.E. "Gene" Jordan denied a motion for new trial for convicted rapist Curtis Frank Brooks Wednesday and formally sentenced Brooks to 99 years in the penitentiary.

Brooks' attorney, Bill Kolius, made known immediately his intention to appeal the conviction.

Brooks was found guilty May 7 in 47th District Court and sentenced by the jury to 99 years.

He was charged with raping a south Amarillo housewife the afternoon of Jan. 19.

In his motion for a new trial, Kolius contended that there was not sufficient evidence to show force in the rape case.

He also contended there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction and that the court erred in admitting Brooks' confession into evidence.

School Administration In Short Supply Here

"A Shortage of school administrators is showing up in Texas," Dr. W.M. "Fred" Stoker, head of the Department of Educational Administration at West Texas State University, said today.

The shortage stems from the State School Board's efforts to upgrade the standards for certifying school administrators,he said. This follows the national trend in education, Stoker said.

To be certified as a school administrator, Stoker said, a person must complete 60 semester hours above the bachelor's level. One-half of those hours must be in academic areas, not in education.

Stoker said the WTSU Department of Educational Administration will offer four courses in summer school this year. Two of the courses--Educational Administration 600 and 601--will be taught in the first six-week period starting June 3.

The other two courses--Educational Administration 491 and 551--will be offered in the second session starting July 14.

"Educational Administration 600 is the first educational administration course in the program for certification of school administrators," Stoker said. "It is a basic study of organizations and organizatonal behavior."

Educational Administration 601 will be taught in two sections. The first section, secondary school principalship, will run from June 3 to June 22. The second section, elementary school principalship, will be from June 23 to July 9.

The two 600 courses will go from 1:30 p.m. to 4:20 p.m. daily and will carry six semester hours of credit.

Educational Administration 491 is a workshop designed for teachers and administrators who wish to improve the supervision of student teachers, Stoker said.

The course, running from 2:10 to 5:20 p.m. daily, carries three semester hours of graduate or undergraduate credit. It is for a three-week period.

Educational Administration, he said. Three semester hours of credit is awarded.
